his presentation titled
“Learning to Network, Networking to Learn”

<http://networktolearn.wikispaces.com/monterey>

The screenshot shows a Wikispaces wiki page for 'monterey'. The page has a header with the title 'monterey' and buttons for 'Edit This Page', 'page', 'discussion (2)', 'history', and 'notify me'. The main content area is titled 'An Introduction to Personal Learning Networks: Beyond The Tools...' and contains a paragraph about the importance of learning within a social network. Below the paragraph is the author's name, Mark Wagner, Ph.D., and his email address, mark@edtechlife.com. The page also features a sidebar with 'Actions' (Join this Wiki, Recent Changes, Manage Wiki) and 'Navigation' (Home, Cahuilla CUE 2007, SDCUE 2007, Tenaya 2008, Maui 2008). At the bottom, there is a section for 'Slides and Chat' with a link to 'Presentation Slides & Chat Room' and a footer with the text 'LEARNING TO NETWORK NETWORKING TO LEARN'.

An Introduction to Personal Learning Networks: Beyond The Tools...

There's always new web tools, but it's more important to become part of an online learning network than to master any specific tool. The goal of this session is to help participants develop the new literacy of joining and growing an online learning network. To that end, the session will focus on the importance of learning within a social network (based on social constructivist theory) and to help participants see beyond specific tools and can build their online learning network over time.

5 Websites I Found Interesting - Diligo 01/16/2009

- Diligo Blog - Diligo Lists - Google Notebook - Annotated

1. Google Notebook is very much similar to Diligo Lists. In Diligo Lists, you can organize, share and display specific collections of bookmarks. Once you add bookmarks to your list, you can easily re-arrange the collections by drag-and-drop, and add "sections". And you can publish a Diligo list as an HTML document.
2. In Diligo, an item in a list is also saved separately as a bookmark (which can be tagged). So in this sense, Diligo integrates both Google Notebook and Google Bookmark.
3. Diligo also has the important advantage that "clippings" are really "highlights" on the original web pages and will be shown as such when you re-visit the web pages, reminding you the exact content of the clippings.
4. Another unique Diligo list feature: once you create a list, click the "WebSlides" button, you can browse, play and annotate any list of URLs as a slide show! It's great for content browsing, sharing, and creating unique presentations based on web content. Here is an example of a Diligo list, consisting of recent reviews of Diligo, and watch the Diligo List / WebSlides in action!
5. Google Notebook is a bit more flexible in that an item does not have to be tied to a webpage. Diligo Lists will soon be upgraded to provide this flexibility and a lot more in the near future.

What is a Personal Learning
Network (PLN) ?

A Working Definition

A personal or professional learning network (PLN) involves an individual's topic-oriented goal, a set of practices & techniques aimed at attracting and organizing a variety of relevant content sources, selected for their value, to help the owner accomplish a professional goal or personal interest.

David Warlick

Who is in your learning network?

How has your online
learning network changed your life?

Twitter Responses

- gbraddock @markwagner Using contacts in my PLN I do not feel I am sitting at my school "recreating the wheel" someone has "done it" & is "rollin"
- bethanyvsmith @markwagner plns make me feel like I am not alone in this ed tech world :)
- lsadler @markwagner In addition to the invaluable resources I've gotten from my PLN, they have inspired me to be a stronger professional.

Twitter Responses

- kusdiva @markwagner My PLN is a 24/7 help desk and bottomless tool box comprised of my peers.
- ehvickery @markwagner My PLN is a rich source of ongoing professional learning--immediate, pertinent
- cliotech @markwagner And, I've made lots of terrific friends who offer support and inspiration in a variety of ways
- cwebbtech @markwagner My PLN has changed my life, professionally, by teaching me to share openly and increase my "digital footprint"

Innovative Workspaces

I've seen an email passed around that is full of fun pictures of the Google corporate office and today viewed this video below of the NYC Google office. Talk about innovation in the workplace. Could we ever provide anything so drastically different in our schools? Why not? Why are schools stuck looking like schools? Why do we still need to have classrooms, and bell schedules? Why are kids treated like robots? Get in line. Don't talk. Learn exactly what I tell you to learn when I tell you to learn it. When will schools ever be able to jump onto Google's coat tails and provide invigorating environments that will allow kids to get excited....really excited to learn.

TPCK Model

This is about getting technology into the classroom. We know from diffusions of innovation literature that this is probably the 1. Luckily, there's a new model that helps us think about how to develop technological pedagogical content knowledge. You can find out about this model at the website: http://tpck.org/tpck/index.php?title=TPCK_-_Technological_Pedagogical_Content_Knowledge

Parents as Partners Episode #13 October 6, 2008

Submitted by Lornacos on Tue, 2008-10-21 21:29. Parents as Partners Aurelio Montemayor parent involvement

58:42 minutes (26.87 MB)

Aurelio Montemayor from the Intercultural Development Research Association joined the show. Aurelio described is definition of a valued parent leadership, Interent for poor folks without computers and which social media to surf. The chat room was actively engaged in responding to Aurelio's thought provoking approach to parent involvement.

Teachers Teaching Teachers #125 - What if you ask the students what they think? 10.15.08

Submitted by Paul Allison on Tue, 2008-10-21 02:35. Teachers Teaching Teachers Alice Barr Farisa Gail Desler Hannah Lindsea Paul Allison students youth voices

59:02 minutes (13.5 MB)

Three amazing young women joined us on this episode of Teachers Teaching Teachers:

- Farisa, 10th Grader at East-West School of International Studies, Flushing, NY, NY
- Hannah, 11th Grader at Science Leadership Academy, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
- Lindsea, 12th Grader at Punahou School, Honolulu, Hawaii

Paul Allison, Alice Barr, and Gail Desler stayed out of the way as much as possible. We asked the students to help us keep on track with the mission of Youth Voices: to be "a space where teachers nurture student-to-student conversations, collaborations, and civic actions." We seek to sustain student-sponsored work on our new site.

The 5 Stages Of Twitter Acceptance

1. Denial

"I think Twitter sounds stupid. Why would anyone care what other people are doing right now?"

2. Presence

"Ok, I don't really get why people love it, but I guess I should at least create an account."

3. Dumping

"I'm on Twitter and use it for pasting links to my blog posts and pointing people to my press releases."

4. Conversing

"I don't always post useful stuff, but I do use Twitter to have authentic 1x1 conversations."

5. Microblogging

"I'm using Twitter to publish useful information that people read AND converse 1x1 authentically."

- SlideShare - <http://www.slideshare.net/>

This is a screenshot of a SlideShare presentation page. The main slide is titled 'Digital Storytelling with Movie Maker' by Jennifer Carrier Dorman, with a link to her Wikispaces page. The slide features a filmstrip graphic with various images. To the right of the slide, there are statistics (1272 views, 2 comments, 4 favorites, 62 downloads, 2 embeds) and buttons for 'Share', 'Favorite', '+ Group / Event', and 'Download file'. Below these are sections for 'Categories' (Technology), 'Tags' (digital storytelling, windows movie maker, education technology, learning video, forgot), and 'Groups / Events'. On the far right, there are sections for 'More by user' and 'Related Slideshows', each displaying a list of other presentations with their view counts. At the bottom, there is a 'Post to Twitter' button, a 'BOOKMARK' button, and a 'Comments' section showing one comment from 'cliotech'.
